

We have truly enjoyed the seven years we have lived in this home as well as in Kingwood and it is a very difficult decision to return to the North Dallas area.

Kingwood has a unique, small town vibe that will be difficult to replicate.

This has been a very quiet, peaceful and friendly neighborhood. The adjacent reserve has added tranquility to our time here--one need do no more than sit in the living area looking out the back windows or on the patio with a glass of wine to enjoy the beauty and serenity of the surroundings to know what we mean.

The large foyer and adjacent formal dining room have provided an inviting first impression when entering the home. Coupled with the openness of the living area, kitchen and sunroom this has been a great home for entertaining.

The flexibility of the bonus room has been quite useful. During our time here, we have utilized it as a guest suite, additional home office and its current usage—ample storage space.

The over-sized width and depth of the garage have been beneficial. We have been able to easily house three full size vehicles in the garage. The additional width allows one to easily open their doors without fear of bumping into another vehicle. Also, the built-ins have supplied sizable additional storage space.
