

What I Love About My Home

There are many reasons why I love my home. Our home has a charming curb appeal and a large patio great for entertaining. The yard is well-maintained and the entry is warm and welcoming. When we are on the back patio BBQ'ing, I really love having the mosquito system! The floor plan is one of the best plans in our neighborhood. I particularly like that the master is separate from the secondary bedrooms for added privacy. The high-vaulted ceilings makes the home feel larger than 1492 sq.ft. The master bedroom is very spacious and the laundry room located inside the house makes our home one of the most sought after models. The neighbors are very friendly and the nearby playground is a great place for children to play. We are in a great location with plenty of shopping and restaurants nearby and easy access to I10 and Grand Parkway.
