

Why we purchased this house and made it our home

The reason we bought this house was because we were staying in a rental across the street and we really loved this area. We always took notice of this house and thought it was the nicest on the street in our opinion. When we saw that it was up for sale, I thought, why not take a chance, and see if we could buy it? The timing was perfect. We felt that we needed a home of our own; a place to settle. We had our second child on her way, and we needed a safe place to raise our two children. Thankfully, we were blessed enough that everything worked out. Now we hope this will be the perfect house for the next family.
