

1512 Hickory Bend Ct

The seller is pleased to provide more information for you on this home:

- Energy efficient –See attached past 12 months for Gas and Electricity
- All window glass has window tint film except for front door. This film is reflective, improves insulation, reduces sun fading, and reduces being able to see in during the day.
- Second floor attic pull down stairs has an insulation box that lifts up out of the way.
- Second floor attic has some storage flooring
- Walk in attic (via door in closet) has been floored and has shelves for luggage storage
- There is a small storage space under the stairs for hidey hole from a tornado.
- There is a pull down stairs in the 2 ½ size garage where the garage attic is completely floored for storage of Christmas decorations. The garage attic has lights.
- The drive way gate is powered by 110 V and has an electronic gate lock. There is a battery back up in the black box that will open, close and lock the gate for about 3 days during an extended power outage. This gate is on its own 20 amp circuit and has a GFCI outdoor plug in at the gate for ease to vacuum out a car. There is a motion sensor LED light at the gate that turns on only after dark.
- There is an LED type motion sensor light on the garage that illuminates the back door. This light only activate after dark.
- Several additional 110 v connections have been added in the garage, they are labeled as to which GFCI.
- There is a 30 amp RV plug in in the garage for your RV or to recharge your Tesla.
- The garage door has nylon rollers and belt drive for silent door opening and closing.
- There is a rack behind the shed to support kayaks.
- The back yard shed is 10' by 14', for bicycle and yard tool storage; it can be locked, is vented and insulated; it does not have lights. It has cement blocks around the base to prevent wild life homes under the shed. This shed has shelving and internal bracing, tested by both Hurricane Ike and Hurricane Harvey.
- During Hurricane Harvey, August 2017, this house did not flood.
- This is a former Beazer model home.
