

Hello and welcome!

We hope this home captures your heart the way it did ours. With the big backyard and patio space overlooking the lake, you'll forget you're living in the city. We enjoyed dozens of nights grilling and enjoying meals on the deck, and with the kitchen on the first floor, it makes cooking even more fun. The third-floor deck is fantastic for game nights, entertaining, or reading a good book, though nothing is better than hanging out up there while it's raining.

As much as we love the home, we think you'll like the neighbors just as much. During the winter storm, we formed a text group and helped each other turn on fireplaces and get drinking water. The neighbors with pools even offered to let us scoop buckets of their pool water to flush drains.

Work has called us to Austin, so we sadly have to leave. But it's a fantastic place to live. We hope you want to call it home!

Sincerely,

Brennan and Caroline
