under the canopy or in a large flower bed. I have not found them difficult to control and their large globes of pink/purple flowers are well worth it!

These will be shipped bareroot to save on shipping I also trim ALL of the large leaves off the plants for shipping these will re-bud once the plant is established in it keeps these leaves from draining nutrients from the root system. What you will get will look like a twig with some roots on it. Don't be discouraged by this initial look are planted and start growing, they will fill out and grow quickly under proper conditions (warm, damp but not too wet).

Plants ship within the USA only.
