Granite Disclaimer

BUYER: ROMMAN

ADDRESS: 2232 BAYOU COVE LANE

COMMUNITY: MAGNOLIA CREEK

- Due to the fact that granite is a product of nature, the characteristics of a particular sample will not be uniformly present in other samples of the same color. A sample serves only to indicate, in a general way, the color, markings, and texture usually found in a block of granite.
- Because of the inherent characteristics, no two pieces of granite, such as sections of a kitchen countertop, will be identical. The countertops or areas of the countertop will not be replaced due to the color and/or texture variation within or between the pieces of your installation. If granite tile is used on the backsplash, fireplace, or as inserts in the floor or backsplash, it will not match the slab countertops.
- Because granite is natural and is quarried from the ground, it contains inherent characteristics:
 - Hairline crack (caused during the quarrying process and are visible)
 - Fissures (a natural cleft in the formation which are mistaken for a crack)
 - Pits (small crystals that loosen and may fall out during polishing leaving small voids in the surface)
 - Inclusions (areas which do not look like the rest of the stone and may vary in size from small to countertop size)
 - Some colors have a "grain" or pattern direction. The installer will try to maintain that grain or pattern direction throughout a given countertop, but may be unable to do so.
- Any movement of cabinets, walls or general settling of your home could cause any of the hairline cracks, fissures, or pits to open and/or become noticeable. The marble Institute of America deems it appropriate to repair any surface blemishes or cracks during the fabrication and installation process.
- Granite is quarried from the ground. It is impossible to do seamless installations of countertops. Granite countertop seams can be seen and felt. Granite slabs are not always perfectly flat causing some seams to be uneven from the front the back. Granite slabs frequently vary in thickness from one end to the other +/- 1/8", so the total potential variance in thickness between slabs could be as much as 1/4". When this occurs, the thicker slab will be feathered to match the thinner slab at the edge seam location.
- Since granite is a quarried material, slab sizes are random. The maximum size of a countertop is 100"x54". Occasional random counters may exceed this dimension by a few inches, but the increased size is not guaranteed from house to house. When necessary, seams may be included in the sink or the cooktop cutouts.
- Being porous, unsealed granite may absorb many types of liquids and will be prone to staining. To resist stains, granite must be sealed with a penetrating sealer. A sealer should be reapplied every 3-6 months to maintain its repellent characteristics. No sealer is a guarantee against stains, and sealers do not repel oils. Food oils, present in most foods, must be cleaned up promptly to prevent staining. Water will leave a very minor mineral deposit when it dries. Over time and repeated spills, these deposits will become objectionably white. Clean up water spills before they dry to prevent these mineral deposits. If you have mineral deposits on your countertop, typically around the faucet, they are most easily removed with a single edge razor blade. Do not use "CLR, Lime-Away" or other lime dissolving products.
- The polished finish of granite is very durable, however, it can be scratched with other household items. The finish may be dulled with the application of unapproved cleaning agents and general water. Absolutely do not use abrasive cleaners (such as Comet, Ajax, Soft Scrub, Bon Ami, etc.) on granite surfaces and avoid other cleaners not specific for granite. Test any new cleaner on a small out-of-the-way area before using on the countertop.

CERAMIC TILE

The color is baked on the surface and does not continue through the thickness of the tile. When scratched or chipped, the light surface below the color will show. Dye lot variances may occur in shading and veining. No two pieces of tile are ever exactly alike. When choosing a "natural" looking floor tile, please be aware that these selections are manufactured to look like natural stone. Therefore, individual pieces will differ in color, texture and overall appearance. These choices cannot be expected to exactly match samples. Dark or light bodied tiles that have no matching trim pieces will have a significant color difference on the exposed edge as compared to the face of the tile when installed on shower walls, countertops, backsplashes, etc. Be aware this will occur and check the body color of the tile to avoid any misconception.

ACCENT TILES

Some accent patterns may be interrupted by plugs or switches in kitchen and desk areas. Please be aware of this while selecting your pattern. Due to the nature of the craftsmanship of decorative listellos, inserts, metallic finishes, and mesh mounted mosaics; no two pieces will be identical in shape, size, and / or color adding beauty and uniqueness to the product. Mesh mounted mosaics come manufactured on a sheet of mesh, which can have irregularities in placement of the tiles. When grouted, the grout lines will also have irregularities corresponding with the layout of the pieces on the sheet. The flexible nature of the mesh mounted tiles requires them to conform to every nuance of the underlying surface. Therefore, given the characteristics of the material, the installation of such materials may result in a surface that is not perfectly flat and/ or even.

GROUT

Over a period of time, grout may stain or discolor. There are several products available at local hardware stores to treat this condition. Builders do not warrant discoloration and will not seal grout. No grout sealant should be applied until at least six weeks after the tile installation. Grout color samples shown are as near the actual color of the grout as possible. Final installed shade may vary with the variety of tiles, tile porosity, job site conditions, and finishing techniques. Uneven drying conditions can cause shade variations or mottling within the same installation. Shade variation will vary from the sample stick used for color selection. Settling of concrete or movement of non-rigid surfaces may cause grout to crack. These are normal conditions. After one year of ownership, re-grouting is considered to be a part of homeowner maintenance. Should they occur in the first year, the repair will be warranted.

ADDITIONAL TILE & GROUT

There is a possibility tile dye lots and surfacing will vary when adding additional tile to a pre-existing installation. In addition, grout color will vary and grout lines will usually not line up with existing grout joints.

MARBLE/SLATE/LIMESTONE/GRANITE/TRAVERTINE

These products are natural products that are often streaked with irregular and colorful patterns of "impurities" during formation. Because of the imprecise nature of the natural formation, no two pieces of the same type are ever identical. In making your selection, please bear in mind that our samples are merely representative of the color and markings and that the product installed in your home may not resemble the sample. Color and veining can vary dramatically, so you should expect to find variations among the pieces used in your own flooring.

LAMINATE

Scratches are more visible on dark and glossy laminate colors than light and satin colors and finishes. Builders do not warrant scratches in dark colored laminates. Knives should never be used on an unprotected laminate top. Do not place hot pots or pans directly on the laminate. Glossy tops are discouraged.

CABINETS

While every effort is made to match wood grain as closely as possible, no two pieces of wood are exactly alike, even from the same tree. These differences in natural color and grain mean that each piece used in the construction of the cabinet will vary from door to door. Stain-grade wood that is painted will show the natural graining in the wood thus not having as smooth a finish as paint-grade wood or MDF board.

STAINED WOOD PRODUCTS

Different species of wood are used to construct different components, i.e. cabinets, handrails, wood floors, etc., in your home. Because of the variation of the grain, density, and natural color of the different species of wood, builders can not guarantee an exact stain color match from one component to another. However, exposure to sunlight, smoke, and chemicals may cause some materials to fade or vary from their original color every time.

VINYL FLOORS

No matter which vinyl you choose, under extreme conditions, sheet vinyl can dent or tear. Damaged or stiletto heels can also dent or scratch your floor. Damage of this nature is not covered by warranty. The place of walk off mats at each entryway will help to collect dirt and grit that might be tracked in. These tiny particles act like sandpaper and will scratch your floor. Be sure to avoid using rubber-backed mats or rugs as they can damage and potentially discolor your floor. Instead use mats made especially for sheet vinyl floors and remember to shake them out regularly. Also, take great precaution when moving heavy furniture or appliances. The use plywood sheets when moving objects will protect your floor. Always cover table and chair legs with protectors designed to safeguard vinyl. Be aware that homeowners are responsible to maintain caulking in heavy water use areas.

WOOD FLOORS

Builders strongly discourage choosing wood floors for "wet areas", such as kitchens, utility rooms, and baths. Care and maintenance of glue-down wood floors is similar and is addressed under sand/finish wood floors.

SAND & FINISH WOOD FLOORS

Wood performs best when your home has a relative humidity between 30-50% and a temperature range between 60-80 degrees Fahrenheit. When floors dry out, they shrink slightly. When floors absorb humidity, they expand. This is normally a seasonal change. Any changes in the wood, which may include minor cupping, crowning or cracks are not considered a problem or defect in the floor. This is only nature's way of managing too much or too little moisture. Never completely close your home without the H.V.A.C. being on to regulate the temperature, which in turn affects the humidity. Although very durable, hardwood floors can be dented. Damaged or spike heels are capable of damaging virtually any flooring surface. If you are a pet owner carefully consider wood due to scratch and dust issues. The patina, natural color change will occur. Perceptions of color, texture, patterns in sample may be different than entire application. Normal maintenance includes vacuuming or sweeping as needed. Make sure the beater bar does not contact the floor. Do not use products such as Endust or Pledge to dust mop your floor. An electro-static sheet such as a "Swiffer" or equivalent works well at picking up dust, lint, hair, etc. Use only the dry version, not the wet one. Use only cleaners approved for use on urethane finished hardwood floors, such as Bona Hardwood Floor Cleaner, Polycare Spray Cleaner, or Zep Hardwood Floor Cleaner.

These products are available at your local home improvement store. A hardwood flooring mop with terry cloth bonnets works well. Do not over-do wet maintenance on your hardwood floors. Many characteristics are

CARPET

All carpeting, especially light colored carpeting, will experience filtration soiling. This condition, which is caused by airborne soil and pollutants which are "filtered" through the carpet in areas where airflow is concentrated, may appear over a short period of time (a few weeks) or may take months or years to become visible. Filtration soiling is most noticeable with light colored carpet which appears soiled and dark at doorways, along seams that abut baseboards, around railings on stairs, around electronic equipment, areas where the carpet has been punctured or anywhere that air flows over or through the pile. Filtration soiling does not indicate a defect in the carpet nor is it an indication of low quality. It can appear on any carpet regardless of price, style, color, construction, or face fiber. This construction is considered "normal wear and tear" and therefore is not warranted. Seams may be visible. all carpets show tracks. Textured carpet shows less track. Color varies between dye lots. Application of stain resistant chemicals will void warranty.
