

Things I Love About My House

One of my favorite places to be, is in my living room that is the center of the house. I imagine how you can look around the room and see all the endless possibilities you have to change around the room depending on your mood, season or new that new find while shopping.

We love watching a good movie. That is our nighttime favorite.

We love to have a little fire when it is a cool night and how we enjoy the warmth that make your home feel so cozy.

We love our kitchen/dining combo that we built to open the cooking space. The house has an original old wood wall showing the character and vintage look.

We love having parties/family gatherings at the house and having the large island in the central place to gather decorate and place goodies I bake for everyone who comes. The house smells so good when you bake.

I love the fact that our house will hold the cold and the heat. Having the beautiful shade trees the breeze will flow through the house. Open the front and back doors; the air will flow through the house.

We can sit on our porch and admire our yard after a hard day working. The smell of fresh cut grass and the smell of someone starting a grill is yummy...

Depending on the time of the year there are beautiful azaleas, irises, roses, gardenias and various other flowers that smell so good.

We love to have a fire out back and enjoy the fresh night air. If we have our grandkids, they can roast marshmallows.

I love the fact that the yard has so much space for your animals and a place for them to run and play without harm.

You can let your kids go outside and enjoy the space to ride their bikes, play basketball, baseball, jump on their trampoline or whatever keeps them active.

We can do anything we want at home and never get bored. I can stay home for a year and never leave it and be happy as can be.

Make a garden and grow your own fruit and vegetables and learn how to can. Get chickens and have fresh eggs. Keep some ducks and watch nature at its best.

I love doing crafts on a regular basis. I have a small shop to work in and make things.

There is space and fences built where your kids can raise their 4H or FFA projects without having permission.
