League City Hike & Bike Trails

The City's trail system celebrates all that is League City.

League City was originally laid out along the City's train tracks and Main Street. Today, the trail system is built around the railroad, the historic area and throughout both east and west portions of the City. Many of the trails are tied to League City's story, its founders and early growth to include the Butler Oaks, the Longhorn Museum, the Fig Factory, and the Interurban Railroad.

The trails through League City also serve as an ecotourism haven for bird watchers.

More than 220 species of birds to include the Purple Gallinule, Red-Headed Woodpecker, Great White Pelican, and the once endangered Brown Pelican are often spotted along the City's vast trail system.

As the City grows, it's important for residents (and visitors) to have an opportunity to connect as a community and enjoy all that League City has to offer. The trail system was designed to enhance safety routes throughout our neighborhoods; provide an alternate transportation option; enhance health initiatives; and create a sense of community for all who live, work and play within League City.

League City's multi-use trails link numerous schools, parks, neighborhoods, and lifestyle and business centers. Our trails serve as a transportation network connecting residents (and visitors) from one end of the City to another and offer an affordable, healthy way to move about the City.
